

PROVIDING ASSISTANCE

To Accountancy Practices

Within every accounting discipline there are a number of areas where specialist knowledge is required. Capital allowances is one area of the many contained within the tax specialism. While in terms of the tax return, capital allowances figures may only be relevant to one or two boxes, substantial information, justification and professional judgment is required in order to assess and claim this valuable tax relief.

In order to determine the level of qualifying expenditure, a capital allowances advisor at a minimum will need access and examine many sources of information which are not ordinarily kept as part of the accountants client file. including:

Access to Specialist advice on various capital allowances matters which will enhance the service
you provide

We can assist accountancy practices to increase the range of expertise that they can offer their clients by providing the following assistance.

- Helpline advice — being able to provide you with access to specialist advice on various capital allowances matters which will enhance the service you provide.
- Providing assistance in negotiations with HMRC, particularly when they are questioning valuation techniques and matters relating to the construction of the building.
- Essential preplanning advice which can help clients to maximise their tax saving or make their project viable.
- Providing you with tailored continual professional development events which will allow you to keep up to date with industry developments.

At Cavetta Consulting, our directors have considerable experience of supporting accountancy practices by providing specialist capital allowances and land remediation relief advice.
